Occupational History

Vocational Concepts LLC 8/2010 to present

Director of Rehabilitation Services,

Over the years as director of Vocational Concepts I have conducted thousands of vocational evaluations that may include any of these services: complete transferable skills analysis, labor market surveys; administer and interpret testing to determine mental health status, interests, abilities, and current academic testing. Determine any accommodations needed for return to work. Conduct extensive occupational and wage research, confer with U.S. Department of Labor (Bureau of Labor Statistics) and State Department of Labor and Industry personnel to obtain and/or confirm relevant occupational and wage data for vocational analysis; a variety of methods are used. I also conduct Vocational Evaluations for Litigating Marital Dissolution and provide Expert Testimony. Additionally, Collaborative Divorce Evaluations for Wage Earning Analysis is available with career planning reemployment after a person has not worked recently or has been a homemaker or underemployed.

Personal Injury Earning Capacity Evaluations and Wage Loss information are provided to help settle litigating cases. Wage Research and confirm available and appropriate employment opportunities, identifying associated wages to establish earning potential or residual earning power across multiple labor market areas. Confer with medical and professional treating personnel to determine the degree of disability, eligibility for services, and feasibility of vocational rehabilitation and employability. Provide vocational rehabilitation services, personal adjustment, and career counseling. Advise evaluatee on community and governmental resources to assist with job placement, academic remediation, and training.
